HOW WE DO IT

We advise on some of the world's most important products.

We help our clients develop and implement thoughtful strategies for the growth of their businesses, and for dealing with the rights affecting this.

We believe that careful planning and good judgement are vital in doing so.

WHERE WE DO IT

Our life sciences group provides a full range of corporate, intellectual property, commercial, and regulatory services to some of the most innovative organisations in the sector.

We advise a wide range of organisations, including large multi-nationals, pharmaceutical companies, biotech companies, medical devices companies, universities and university spin-outs, investors, medical schools, and research institutes.

SOME OF OUR RECENT WORK

CLASS ACTIONS Nabarro is defending the world's largest class action, the £7.5 billion British Coal/Department of Trade and Industry coal health claims

CLINICAL TRIALS Nabarro acted on a failed clinical trial (which attracted worldwide press attention) and on the subsequent claims by the volunteers. The failure of this clinical trial led to a complete worldwide review of how clinical trials are conducted

CORPORATE Nabarro advised on one of the UK's largest pharmaceutical sector acquisitions in recent years, and on the subsequent reorganisation

PATENT LICENSING Nabarro advised one of the leading UK medical research charities on a multi-million pound dispute involving royalties due under a patent licence

PATENT LITIGATION Nabarro acted in complex international patent litigation on opioids

PRODUCT LIABILITY Nabarro defended product liability claims relating to a widely used drug

REGULATORY Nabarro advised on the regulatory aspects of a number of big ticket mergers in the sector

TRADE MARKS Nabarro acted on UK and CTM opposition and revocation proceedings concerning rival pharmaceutical brands (and the related filings)
